

NEW RECLAMATION PLAN FOR WAIKIKI IS DECIDED UPON

So-Called Pinkham Project Entirely Discarded—Problem Reduced To Simplest Proportions

WON'T TRY TO MAKE WATER RUN UP HILL

Swamps Will Be Drained and Reclaimed For Residential Use At Cost That Will Be Reasonable

After discussions, arguments, surveys and intangible conferences a feasible plan for Waikiki reclamation has been evolved and decided upon in all but some minor details.

The feature of the new plan is that it discards entirely the so-called Pinkham project, with its elaborate drains, and reduces the problem to its simplest proportions. There will be no wide canal with its sweeping curve from the Moehiua Club to Kapiolani Park, no boulevard, no workable check gates to handle the rise and fall of a tide that doesn't rise and fall and no three or four hundred thousand dollar bill to pay.

But the swamps will be drained and reclaimed for residential use just the same. The muck lagoon that now pours its turbid flood waters into the bathing spot at Waikiki will be a thing of the past and the meandering slough that crosses the Kalia Road will join the Outrigger lagoon as a thing of the past.

Instead of attempting to make sea water run up hill to flush out the proposed drainage canal, the canal agreed upon will be drained by the natural flow of the muck streams that now make the Waikiki duckponds possible, while the stream that flows today into the sea via Makea Island and the Kapiolani lotus pond will continue so to flow, but through a channel straightened and concreted.

The main drainage canal will pick near the Waialae Road and will lead the flow from the Moana stream. From almost the same point a smaller canal will intercept the flow of the streams now meandering through the swamps in the direction of the Outrigger Club and Kapiolani Park. The main canal will run in practically a straight line from Waialae Road, crossing Kalakaua Avenue a short distance Waikiki of the junction of the street car line and the avenue. It will cross Kalia Road at almost the location of the present bridge.

Cut-off walls and other necessary engineering works to force the flood waters from muck into one or the other of the canals will be installed.

The "Venice idea" has been entirely eliminated from the present Waikiki reclamation scheme, said Lyman H. Bigelow, superintendent of public works, yesterday as confirmation that much of the flow of the Pinkham plan has been abandoned under the new administration.

According to our present plans it is purely a drainage scheme which we intend to inaugurate for the reclamation of the Waikiki swamps. Some of the fancier ideas of the Pinkham plan might be worked out, say, in ten years, but under the restrictions of the legislative act we are working under that scheme would be impossible now, if for no other reason than the amount of money we have available," he said.

Superintendent Bigelow said the report that the work at Waikiki was to be done for about one third what the Pinkham scheme would have cost could not be based on a definite estimate, as the present plans were not yet completed, so such an estimate could be made.

However, he gave an inkling of how a big saving is to be made by saying that there is to be a relocation of the main canal or lagoon so it will pass through government holdings wherever possible and not through a great many kuleanas on the muck side of the swamp as was planned by Pinkham.

What is lost in sweeping out straight lines of beauty will be made up in equal utility by a lagoon which will follow a course where the right of way can be easily secured.

A radical change contemplated in the original plans, is the fact that no effort will be made to make the canal so wide and so deep that it will furnish all the necessary material for the filling in of the land drained.

The canal or lagoon is to be a drainage one. The filling in of another way," Mr. Bigelow said.

How the fill on the drained lands is to be made the superintendent of public works declined to say at this time.

At present the public works engineering force is at work completing the "property plotting" of the Waikiki swamps. It will be fully a week before this can be completed after which the plans are to be traced and the blue prints made. Mr. Bigelow says that the course of drainage lagoon will not be definitely located until this property plotting has been finished.

The new plans for the Waikiki reclamation work are being worked out by an engineering board consisting of Col. Robert E. Raymond, district engineer of the Hawaiian Department, U. S. A., S. C. Cantin, city engineer, and the superintendent of public works. All three engineers are understood to be in accord regarding the plans which are now practically completed, excepting for the minor details.

Ford Takes His Seat As Member Of Promotion Board

Is Given Warm Welcome By Chairman—Hawaiian Trust Company Withdraws Subscription Without Saying Why

Alexander Hume Ford, recently appointed member of the Hawaii promotion committee, who is filling the place on the committee made vacant by Captain George Angus' being called to the colors, was given a cordial reception by the committee at its regular meeting yesterday. Chairman Berndt, in behalf of the committee, welcomed the indefatigable booster for Hawaii and said that he and the committee felt that Mr. Ford's taking an active part in the promotion work in the Territory promised a bright future for the organization he had affiliated himself with.

The finance committee of the promotion committee reported that despite all the other drains, that were being made on their cash during these war times, the merchants of Honolulu who have this city's interest at heart and believe that after the war it would be a great tourist center, are responding nobly in their monthly contributions to the promotion committee.

It was reported at the meeting that the board of supervisors was about to reconsider its action of cutting out its appropriation for the promotion committee and that in the near future a reasonable monthly appropriation would be made. This announcement was received with much gratification by the committee but was followed by one which took some of the joy out of the affair.

Without giving any reason, the Hawaiian Trust Co. withdrew its donation of eight dollars and thirty-three cents a month. The gleam did not last long, however, for the members of the committee said that they could, by practicing economy, keep Hawaii before the traveling public with the funds on hand until after the close of the war.

The committee decided to abandon its exhibit in Los Angeles, because the building in which it is at present housed, will shortly be converted into a state fair and the promoters of this affair want $600 to continue the exhibit in the building. The various paintings and other exhibits will be stored until some further suitable use can be found for them that will not cost $600.

As the guests of Alexander Hume Ford, the committee will visit the Liliuokalani Gardens in Nuuanu Valley Monday evening with a view toward exploiting this unique show place as one of the tourist assets of Honolulu.

ABSENT DEFENDANT IN MUCH PILIKIA

If Adjudged Guilty of Contempt, Fined, Sentenced To Prison and Ordered Arrested

With everyone present in the federal court room yesterday morning except the defendant himself, a jury of twelve men was called to the jury box, the statement made to the jury by the government was prepared to prosecute the defendant on a charge of violating the Mann Act. An empane was reached when the defendant's attorney, William B. Lymor, confessed to Judge Vaughan that he was unable to locate his client, although the latter was ordered to report for trial.

Judge Vaughan made particular inquiry of Judge Lymor as to whether or not notice had been sent to his client, and on receiving an affirmative reply, the judge proceeded to make things interesting for the missing principal.

First of all he adjudged the defendant, a chauffeur known as "Bennie" Lau Kwei, an employee of the Eagle Auto Stand of Beretania Street, guilty of contempt of court; then he fined him $100; third, he ordered him to a prison term of three days; fourth, he ordered the forfeiture of his bond, and to cap the climax, ordered his arrest and presentation of his person in court.

The jury had not actually been completed, for, with the appearance of the defendant in court, the court on both sides were privileged to challenge any of the jurors already in the box, and replace them with other jurors of the same panel, who were held on waiting orders until the calling of the jury was completed.

The jurors were ordered to report again at nine o'clock this morning.

Lau Kwei had all of last night in jail to think of his misfortune, where he was placed by Marshal J. J. Buildy, after Judge Horace Vaughan had sentenced him for contempt and declared his bond forfeited.

Lau Kwei told Marshal Smith when he was finally located that his attorney had failed to notify him the date had been set for the trial, and that therefore he had gone out in the country to pass expert opinion on some horses which a friend was buying.

SUGGEST REMOVAL OF BISHOP MUSEUM

Site in Civic Center, Proposed; Proposal Will Be Considered By Governor-McCarthy

A suggestion that the Bishop Museum be moved from the building now occupied in the grounds of the Kamehameha School for Boys and located in the new Honolulu Civic Center, preferably opposite the Library of Hawaii on Punchbowl Street, has been made to Governor C. J. McCarthy, which he views with some favor, after only casual consideration.

So soon as he gets an opportunity free from the pressing attention of other matters of more immediate urgency, the Governor says that he intends to take up Civic Center subjects for consideration, when he will further consider the suggestion that the Bishop Museum be moved to the new location proposed.

Those who favor action to get the Bishop Museum located in the Civic Center, on the site at King and Punchbowl Streets suggested to the Governor, said that several advantages will be gained.

Would Remove Eye-sore
The first and major purpose which will be achieved will be the tearing down of the frame shacks now an eye-sore at that corner, specially since the Mission Board has purchased and filled in the lot formerly occupied by the Territorial Stables. The second advantage will be the securing of a suitable and proper building for the housing of something of public interest in the Civic Center.

Another advantage which makes the suggestion one worthy of the consideration of the Bishop Trustees is that by the removal of the Bishop Museum to the Civic Center there will be provided another building at the Kamehameha School, with little alteration, can be made suitable for dormitory or other school uses. It is known that the dormitory buildings at the Kamehameha School are becoming so antique that provision will have to be made soon to replace them.

Question of Room
Governor McCarthy said yesterday that the only objection he could see to the suggestion was that there might not be room enough on the site proposed for a building as large as the one necessary to house the curios of the Bishop Museum, admitted as being the finest one in the world, and rating equal to that of other notable museum exhibitions.

To the answer that part of the Mission Board yard might be purchased by the Bishop Trustees as an addition to the proposed museum site, he replied, that he understood the Mission Board had bought the Territorial Stables site for the purpose of setting off its site building.

However, it is asserted by others that the Mission Board probably would be willing to dispose of a part of its unused lot in order to get the adjacent buildings removed and such an exhibition as a museum nearby.

Another suggestion, which also provides for the removal of the Bishop Museum to a Civic Center location, is that the Bishop Trustees might favor such a removal, but would want to locate it on the gore lot at King and Merchants Streets, to which "Princess" Theresa Wilcox claimed title, but was disposed, after holding it for several years, by a court decision.

Governor McCarthy says he understands that the former proposal that a city hall building be located on the gore lot has been partly abandoned for another scheme which is looked upon with some favor. This is that the city hall offices occupy the present judiciary building, where the supreme and circuit courts and other offices are removed to the executive building, which is planned to build on the muck and even corner of Punchbowl and King Streets.

After the Governor said yesterday that he intended to take up Civic Center suggestions, as soon as the report upon his time was received, he added that he intended to have a conference with the Bishop Trustees and see how they would accept the proposal that the Bishop Museum be moved to the site suggested.

SECRET OF TORPEDO CAREFULLY GUARDED

LANCASTER, England, August 14.—(Associated Press).—The secret of the construction of balance chamber of the torpedo used by British submarines is jealously guarded by the British government. Although there are three manufacturing concerns making torpedoes in England, none of them is permitted to learn the secret of making this chamber section about three feet long.

The product of all three plants is composed of interchangeable parts of torpedoes which are sent to the central government plant where the balance chamber is fitted on.

Every tenth torpedo is taken to pieces and the parts are tested to make sure that they are interchangeable with the products of some other factory. If not the misfits are condemned.

One factory here turns out about 21 torpedoes a week. The labor is mostly unskilled and includes women. The skilled workers were formerly employed on textile machines or in jewelry work. None of them knew anything about torpedoes before they came to the factory.

Charles Spiller, who was found guilty by a jury in the federal court Wednesday of a violation of the Espionage Act, is to be sentenced by Judge Vaughan on Saturday morning unless a motion for a new trial is granted.

High City Officials Head List of Tax Delinquents

Sheriff Rose, City Attorney Brown and Deputy City Attorney Chillingworth Among Hundreds Whose Salaries Are Garnished

Three of the principal officials of Honolulu head the list of municipal employees who have for several years back failed to do their share toward paying the expense of running the city and whose salaries were garnished yesterday for non-payment of taxes.

The three officials are: Sheriff Charles H. Rose, who owes $486.40; City Attorney A. M. Brown, who is in arrears $88.40;

Deputy City Attorney Charles F. Chillingworth, also president of the senate, who is behind to the tune of $154.15.

These officials are only conspicuous samples of a long list, totalling 443 employees of the municipality who don't bother about paying their taxes. They will worry about it now, though, Tax assessor Charles Now is of their trail and has adopted the only practical method of making them pay up. He has garnished them, and every time the city pays them their semi-monthly salary, they find it trimmed by twenty-five percent until the total of arrears is wiped out.

In some of the department it seems as if nobody ever paid taxes. In the police department, for instance, besides Sheriff Rose, there are sixty-four delinquents. The water and sewer department has sixty-five, Henry De Fries, the new building inspector, owes $131.90.

It is to be presumed that Sheriff Rose will serve the garnishment summons on himself and then he'll know it has been served. But the sheriff is used to it. He was garnished three years ago for taxes. He said that another bunch has accumulated, he gets it again in the same place.

AUGUSTUS PRESCOTT STRICKEN BY DEATH

Is Taken Suddenly Ill On Street and Dies Shortly After Being Rushed To Hospital

Taken suddenly ill as he stepped out from the Young Hotel at twelve-twenty yesterday afternoon, where he had had his lunch, Augustus S. Prescott, district sales manager of the Standard Oil Company, died at the Queen's Hospital, after being taken to the hospital by a taxi cab.

As Mr. Prescott left the hotel he hailed a rent automobile and as he stepped into the machine he remarked to the chauffeur that there was something the matter with his speech and asked to be hurried to the Department Hospital at Fort Shafter, where he had been under medical treatment for some weeks.

Mr. Prescott had collapsed during the trip and was carried into the hospital by the chauffeur. It was noticed then that he was suffering from a partial stroke of paralysis, which attacked him on the left side of the body. He found speech difficult but was able to request that he be taken to the Queen's Hospital, where he passed away, death being attributed to hemorrhage of the brain. Shortly before dying he regained his speech to a certain extent and recognized those about his death bed.

Masonic Funeral Today
Funeral services will be held at three o'clock this afternoon at the Masonic Temple, intended to follow in the Masonic plot in Nuuanu cemetery. The services will be conducted under the auspices of Hawaiian Lodge No. 21, P. & A. M. The late Mr. Prescott was a member of Maui Lodge No. 284 of Waikuku. He was a Shriner and Knight Templar and also a member of Honolulu Lodge No. 416, P. & A. M.

Augustus S. Prescott was a native of Portland, Oregon, and was forty-four years old. He came to the Islands when a young lad and was educated in St. Louis College, this city, after which he returned to the Coast, coming back shortly afterward and making Honolulu his home ever since. He had been sales manager of the Standard Oil Company for the Territory the past ten years and recently was presented with the one-star solid gold pin which the company awards its members after ten years' continuous service. This pin he prized highly. He carried considerable life insurance as also Standard Oil Company insurance.

Many Mourn His Loss
Surviving Mr. Prescott are the widow, Mrs. Jeannette Prescott, of Lower Maunaloa Road, and two sons, Donald and Warren, who are respectively six and five years old. Among others of the immediate family who mourn the death of Mr. Prescott are his stepfather, Patrick McGrath, and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew G. Ferguson, of 927 Seventh Avenue, Kaimuki, father and mother of Mrs. Prescott, and several sisters who reside in the mainland.

Mr. Prescott was well known both in Honolulu and throughout the Islands, for he travelled extensively in the performance of his duties. He was well liked and popular in business, social and fraternal circles for his affable and pleasing disposition.

Disloyal Chaplain

CAMP LEWIS, August 15.—Officers here today announced the arrival at the U. S. Penitentiary at McNeil Island, of former Chaplain Franz J. Feuler, United States Army, who is to serve a sentence of fifteen years for disloyal remarks while on duty in Hawaii.

'CHEAP' MILK WILL BE DEARER, DEAR MILK BE CHEAPER

All Milk Is Going To Be Fifteen Cents a Quart and Only One Grade Is To Be Sold

PRESENT SYSTEM IS HELD TO BE ILLEGAL

Territorial Officials Agreed To Wink At Butter Fat Reduction But Wayson Couldn't Wink

"Cheap" milk is going to be dearer, "dear" milk is going to be cheaper and all milk is going to be fifteen cents a quart. The present system of having two grades of milk, one with butter fat contents reduced to three percent and the other with three point six percent butter fat, is to be discontinued.

The readjustment is to go into effect soon, probably within a few days.

"I think we will have to let them charge more for milk," said Food Administrator Child yesterday, in referring to the coming change. "Milk, like every other commodity, must be sold at a profit, and there has not been a profit to the producers supplying the dairymen's Association at the prices now charged, that is fourteen cents for the cheap grade and sixteen cents for the higher grade."

Anyhow, the present system is not going to be allowed to continue. The recent custom of the dairymen in selling butter fat is illegal, according to city ordinance. According to the law it must be labelled "Partially skimmed milk," but the dealers know that if it is so labelled there would be a row from mauka to makai and from Maunaloa to Moanalua. Hence the decision to sell only one grade of milk hereafter at the split figure of fifteen cents.

Winked At Violation
When the dairymen recently began putting three percent butter fat milk on the market they ran afoul of the federal pure food inspector. They either had to say on the bottle that the butter fat contents had been reduced or buy into the defendant's stand in the federal court. Thus the labelled caps appeared all of a sudden, much to the bewilderment of many a housewife. But this label, put on to please the federal pure food man, advertised the contents of the bottles as contrary to the city milk law and there were numerous little conferences at which territorial officials agreed to wink at the violation.

More than the understanding that the whole thing was more or less experimental.

But Dr. James T. Wayson, the new territorial sanitarian, hasn't yet learned to wink. When his attention was brought to the matter he delivered the ultimatum that "reduced" milk was "skimmed" milk and had to be so labelled, even if the skimming was only partial.

So the Grade B milk and the Grade A milk are going to disappear from the trade and just ordinary milk is going to replace them both, at fifteen cents a quart.

Child Favors Raise
Mr. Child points out that the figures of the Dairymen's Association show that milk cannot be sold here at a fair profit at less than this price, and every one knows that figures "cannot lie." It is understood that the raise in price—as the new price is a raise—will go to the milk producers, the dairymen who supply the association.

More than ninety percent of the milk sold in Honolulu since the two grades were put on the market has been the "reduced" kind, so while some six or seven percent of the milk will be sold at a cent less per quart, ninety-three or ninety-four percent will be boosted a cent.

There seems to be something radical in the management of the Dairymen's Association, according to the figures in Mr. Child's office. For instance, cream appears to be sold at a loss. That is, the milk of the average consumer in Honolulu had a part of its cream taken out and then the cream was marketed without a profit. Just what the ones who can afford cream should thus benefit at the expense of the ones able only to buy second grade milk seems paradoxical.

And there are other things in and around the headquarters of the Dairymen's Association that require equal explanation. The special milk commission will probably do some more delving for the facts.

In the meanwhile, milk will be fifteen cents a quart.

DOCTOR HOLLMAN IS NAMED NEW HEAD OF QUEEN'S HOSPITAL

Dr. Harry T. Hollman, acting surgeon United States Public Health Service, and director of the U. S. detention and investigation station and hospital at Kalahe, will be the next superintendent of the Queen's Hospital.

An offer of the position has been made to Doctor Hollman, in accordance with action taken yesterday by the board of trustees of the Queen's Hospital. The trustees, since the death of Moses T. Clegg, the former superintendent, practically decided upon Doctor Hollman as a competent man to direct the hospital's affairs, and it is understood Doctor Hollman's acceptance will be given in a day or two.

The doctor has been located in Honolulu for several years in connection with special work for the United States Public Health Service.

RACE PROGRAM FOR COMING BIG MEET

Ten percent of the net proceeds for August 31 and September 2 and the entire proceeds of September 7 to go to the Red Cross. This plan has received the hearty approval of the Hawaiian Chapter, American Red Cross.

All purses to be paid in Liberty Bonds and war savings stamps.

All horse owners have agreed to turn their horses over to a committee to be named by the committee, thus assuring plenty of competition and one of the best race meets ever held on a local track.

Jockeys and attendants have offered their services free. The committee will also have thirty army mounts to help the good cause along, this feature being under army supervision.

The program for the September 7 meet will be decided on September 3.

SOLDIERS PATROL BEACH

Soldiers of one of the Hawaiian regiments in regular service, armed with rifles, patrolled portions of Waikiki Beach, yesterday afternoon, particularly along Kalanika Avenue from King Street, as far as the Public Baths, in Kapiolani Park, creating considerable curiosity among civilians. Most of those who took notice of the patrol, concluded they were looking for a deserter or prisoner.
